

PSZI 0720 Personality Psychology I.
Mátyás Káplár, PhD
Monday 14.00 – 15.30
A/434
The aim of this course is to provide an introduction to the methodology of personality psychology and give an overview of the approaches of the corresponding research, starting from the theories of typologies to the modern approach of humanistic psychology. The participants will be able to get familiar with the thinking method of the different directions and the approaches of personality description. During the lectures not only the theories will be introduced but through examples, their possible application in the psychological practice as well.

PYNB040301 Analytical Developmental Psychology
András Láng, PhD
Thursday 8.15 – 9.45
E/541
The aim of this course is to give an introduction to psychoanalytic developmental theories and concepts. Popular concept such as the Oedipus complex and trauma will be addressed together with some classic and contemporary psychodynamic approaches to development. Especially the interface between current psychological concepts (evidence-based psychology, emotion regulation) and psychoanalytic formulations will be the focus of the course.

PSZI0732 Social Psychology of Communication
Orsolya Vincze, PhD
Tuesday 14.00 – 15.30
C/V/2
The course examines core theories of communication and the current social psychological approach to language such as linguistic relativity and cultural diversity, speech act, mental processes in communication, interaction process analysis, transaction analysis, social representation.